The Oracle Learning Management (OLM) component of ESR enables comprehensive control over all the activities associated with the learning and development of NHS staff. This includes the administration of available learning e.g. classroom based, e-Learning courses, and the recording and monitoring of learning.

BENEFITS:

- Managed enrolments through auto subscriptions onto Learning Certifications
- Play content on or off line
- Automatic notifications to remind staff and managers when learning needs to be renewed
- Manager compliance reports
- National competency frameworks including the Core Skills Training Framework (CSTF), Care Certificate Framework (CCF) and an agreed set of Statutory and Mandatory competence labels (MAND) to support monitoring of compliance levels against statutory and mandatory training
- Free nationally approved, quality assured and centrally maintained e-Learning content as well as access to locally procured or created e-Learning available to play on PCs and mobile devices

Approximately 55,000 doctors are in training (DiT) at any one time within the NHS. Over a 10-year training career, they move organisation an average of ten times, some doctors as many as 16 times. Using the national compliance in ESR means their training compliance will transfer form organisation to organisation via the Inter Authority Transfer process meaning a reduction in undertaking unnecessary duplicate learning.
